

Israel, America And The Last Days

This study series on Israel, America and the Last Days, is one quite honestly that may not provide the reader with a “warm fuzzy” feeling. Most of what you are about to read will sound very negative at times because it is the sincere feeling of the writer that judgment is right around the corner if we, individually first, then as a nation, do not repent. Actually, judgment is not just reserved for America, but for the entire world. The reason America’s judgment will be so severe once it falls is we have sinned against light. The hands of God’s mercy are still extended even in these final days but time is running short neighbor. No one reading this is guaranteed tomorrow and our next breath could be in eternity –either in heaven or everlasting torment.

One of the main reasons America is on a collision course with Almighty God is our handling of Israel and the covenant land God promised her so very long ago. Since President George Bush Sr. attempted to carve up Jerusalem in 1991 during the Madrid Peace Conference we have done many things that have pressured the nation of Israel in lieu of Arab oil. Our current President started his administration in the same manner as his father in siding with the Palestinians and continuing to apply pressure to Israel’s government to come to the negotiating table and deal with terrorists. Had Israel agreed to President Bush’s request to adopt the “Mitchell” Plan in the summer of 2001, Israel would have had to go back to pre-1967 borders – basically leaving her totally DEFENSELESS. Recent statements by our President (George W. Bush Jr.) have been more encouraging. He has seemed to get the message that if we as a nation bless Israel, we will be blessed. If we curse Israel, we will be cursed. The choice is ours.

I believe President Bush’s heart is in the right place. But when we apply pressure to Israel we will still face death. I heard Nita Johnson recently state and rightly so that sometimes things done in ignorance like in the case of Uzzah touching the ark of God STILL BRINGS God’s judgment. It is so deeply eerie the coincidences though between the times when America pressures Israel and when she doesn’t and truly supports her in her fight for survival. Our economy has recently started coming back from a 2 ½ year recession. The reason? If you look at the start of the upswing you will see the dates very close to the time when President Bush basically told Israel that America is behind her now in her fight against terrorism and he blasted the Palestinian Authority for what he called a “organized campaign of terror” against Israel. He has refused to meet with Mr. Arafat unlike his predecessor who had Mr. Arafat over at every chance.

This I hope will continue. I believe America still has hope for revival! With intercession and prayer the tide of God’s wrath and anger may still be turned and America can see revival in the last days. At worse, the intercession of the saints can delay judgment so we can get as many into the Kingdom before it is too late.

We are living in the last days. No serious student of the Bible (and even those with a very limited knowledge of the Bible) can see the events taking place in our world and say with a straight face we are not close to something BIG. Yeshuah is coming! I feel deeply that THIS generation will be the generation to see His return. What a blessed thought. I feel it's that close. In my writing, I do not seek to put a time frame on His return and the church's departure. Actually some of these writings indicate a theological change in my own personal thinking about end-time events. The point is, though, that no matter how you view end-time events and the timing of the rapture- it's time to GET READY for the return of Yeshuah Jesus!

I pray these journals will encourage you. I'm sure some of the statements in this manuscript will cause some type of emotion – anger, conviction or edification. Some of them were written in the weeks following September 11, 2001 and were heavy on my heart. If I seem a little “over the top” at times please understand it's coming from a heart of passion that loves the Lord first and our country second. I want to see America come back before it is too late. I don't want to see our nation given over to foreign powers as the Lord allowed Israel to be taken over when she backslid from Him.

Whether we edify, exhort or encourage, we do pray the Lord stirs your heart with the gift within each one of you by reading this guide. We don't claim to be an expert on future events. We have written this straight from the heart with the help of a few friends who have completed priceless research. Let the Holy Spirit stir you to repentance and a new commitment to our Lord before it is too late. The harvest is waiting for YOU!

Shalom and Blessings
